

EVERETT L. CATTELL, president of Malone College in Canton Ohio will speak in Christian Emphasis week chapels April 4-11. The evening services, sponsored jointly by GF and Newberg Friends, will begin at 7:30 p. m. each evening.

Everett Cattell to Speak April 4-10 in CE Week

Everett L. Cattell, spring Christian Emphasis speaker April 4-10, comes to George Fox with many years of experience as pastor, missionary and administrator.

Mr. Cattell, a graduate of Marion college, Marion, Indiana, received his M.A. degree from Ohio State university. He then spent nine years in pastorates of Friends churches in Columbus, Springfield, and Cleveland, Ohio.

While pastoring the church at Cleveland, he also taught part-time at Cleveland Bible Institute.

Following his pastoral work, for twenty-one years he was a missionary to India. Twenty of these years he acted as Superintendent of the American Friends India Mission. His ministry in India included work in Bible conferences and churches for Indian Christians and other missionaries.

During these years he was a frequent pastor of Kellogg Memorial church where some five hundred missionaries gather in the Himalayas during the extreme heat of May and June.

Another important post he filled there was as Executive Secretary of the Evangelical Fellowship of India. He was also a co-opted member for many years of the Executive Committee of the National Christian Council of India.

Mr. Cattell returned to the United States in September of 1957 at the call of Ohio Yearly Meeting to become its General Superintendent.

He has been president of Malone College, Canton, Ohio, since June 1, 1960. Currently he is president of the World Evangelical Fellowship and vice-president of the Friends Foreign Missionary Society.

Besides being a pastor, evangelist, missionary and administrator, Mr. Cattell is also an author. The Spirit of Holiness, his best known book, is available in the GF library.

George Fox anticipates a time of real blessing as Everett Cattell draws from his wealth of experience to challenge the campus spiritually this coming month.

Meetings will include a daily chapel service on campus and evening messages at Newberg Friends.

Juniors Triumph In BJ Tourney

The juniors came out victors in the girl-boy basketball tournament featured for Bruin Junior Day February 27.

Girls' rules were employed with limited dribble, and two eight-minute halves made up a game.

Juniors started by outscoring the seniors 31-24. The freshmen took the sophomores 35-27 in their preliminary tilt.

The championship game between the juniors and freshmen produced a squealer. The lead changed hands several times with the score finally settling at 32-32 at the end of 26 minutes. In a two-minute overtime, the juniors scored once to win 38-36. The stalwart junior crew was composed of Diane Ball, Nancy Crockett, Teri Kunkel, Nancy Newlin, Joanne Rhodes, Dave Clark, John Halgren, Roy McConaughey, and Jon Newkirk.

Freshman Bea Sandoz was high girl scorer with 9 points in the preliminary and 4 in the final. Mike Harrick, also a freshman, scored 14 in both games to lead the fellows.

Girls to Organize New Association

Sensing a need for some means of uniting all girls at George Fox college, a committee composed of nine girls and Mrs. Craven has been formed to investigate the possibility of organizing a women's association.

The goals of such an organization would be to help women of GFC to grow spiritually, culturally, and socially, and also to provide service to others.

Possible activities for this organization would include fashion shows, featured speakers, faculty-staff teas, receptions, a retreat at the beginning of the year, money-raising drives for service projects, visitation to hospitals, rest homes, etc., and devotional times.

New Custodians Hired for Dorms

The cleaning services of Ish Duckett from McMinnville were first employed at Shambaugh Library December 1, 1964. As of February 15, 1965 they have been increased to the care of Edwards and Pennington Halls.

According to the signed contract, Mr. Duckett furnishes all the janitorial supplies and employs all the help needed Mr. Welti and Mrs. Keyes are his present employees, cleaning the two dorms six days a week.

Due to Mr. Duckett's experience and purchasing in large quantities he will be able to perform these services with no extra cost to the college.

His duties during a year include waxing the floors and shampooing the carpets in the halls once, washing the windows twice, and cleaning the lounges three times. Before school starts in the fall he will come in and clean both buildings, all residence rooms, and wax all the floors.

Next year he will assume the cleaning responsibilities of Calder Center and Heacock Common (other than the kitchen).

Mr. Duckett is a member of the Baptist church and teaches the high school Sunday School class there.

GF Board Votes to Raise Tuition, Faculty Salaries

George Fox college will raise its tuition $75 per school year, beginning next fall, according to a position taken by the Executive Committee of the board of trustees meeting in Minthorn Hall February 27. The new charges, which will raise the amount from $795 to $870, will apply to new students only, as the "Graduated-Tuition Plan" will stay in effect for all those continuing in their education.

The move is part of a general research program being adopted by George Fox. Frank Cole, dean of administration, and Frank C. Colcord, treasurer, have been working over a period of months to project the income and expenditures for the next five years. Thus, the tuition will recognize an inflationary situation with an increase of $75.00 year after year.

Faculty salaries are slated for an increase of ten per cent, beginning a year from now. All of the projections are based upon enrollments with increases of twenty-five students per year, although the recent history of the growth of the college suggests an even greater increase.

Commenting on the action of the board, chairman Ivan L. Adams of Portland stated: "For many years, George Fox has been plagued with an inadequate plant, inefficient and obsolete equipment, and small enrollments. It is our belief that we are improving these situations."

Within the last several weeks, a number of Oregon colleges and universities have raised their costs for next year, and it is understood that at least one other private school will do so in the next few weeks. There are twelve private, accredited colleges in the state; of these, three have tuitions slightly less than George Fox, while eight charge more.

The administration and board constantly review the financial picture, and the board receives a monthly report of the conditions. A major review was conducted when the board met for its semi-annual meeting last December. However, when the Executive Committee met last week, nearly three months had gone by, the delay being caused mainly by the storms and the difficulty of some of the trustees attending at any earlier date. Thus, although it was late, the February meeting was the first opportunity for the group to take responsible action.

According to Dr. Ross: "I am sure that the board would not have taken this action were it not forced upon us by the economic 'facts of life.' The men did so only after all the research and reports dictated our immediate action, and we trust that none of our freshmen who plan to enroll next year will be hindered by what was done."

Jean Bowman Wins Current Affairs Test

Time magazine has notified sophomore Jean Bowman that she has been named the local winner in Time's 29th annual Current Affairs Contest. The test, given to over 750,000 college and high school students, consists of 100 questions on national and foreign affairs. Other high-scoring GF students were James Libby and Neil DeMarco.

New Band, Brass Choir Present Spring Concert

THE NEW BAND and brass choir will present a full concert in Hester Gymnasium tomorrow evening.

Thirty-three members of the newly-formed George Fox college band will present a full concert tomorrow night, March 9, at 8:00 p.m. in Hester gymnasium. No admission will be charged.

Under the baton of director Dennis Hagen, the band has grown to its present number from an original eight members in the fall of 1964. The last bona fide band at George Fox was a 15-piece band in 1958.

In addition to students, the band includes several adults from the college staff and Newberg community. Mrs. Robert Lauinger plays flute; Mrs. Janet Hagen, string bass; Ernest Lichti, oboe; Robert Lauinger, clarinet; Richard Maneing, clarinet; Bob Fiscus, baritone; and Jamie Sandoz, baritone sax.

Opening the concert, the band will play "Overture for Winds" by Charles Carter and "The Earle of Oxford's March" taken from "William Byrd Suite" by Geordon Jacob. Following is "Second Suite in F for Military Band" by one of England's outstanding twentieth century composers, Gustav Holst, and "Song of the Blacksmith" and "Fantasia on Greensleeves." The first section of the concert concludes with a piece by the popular composer, Leroy Anderson, "Rakes of Malloes."

After an intermission the brass choir will play two piano pieces arranged for them by two GFC music majors. The first is titled "Sadness of Soul" by Felix Mendelssohn and arranged by Margie Church. It will feature Mauri Macy as trombone soloist, accompanied by the brass group. The second brass choir number is "The Trauermahsch" by Edvard Greig, arranged for brass by Richard Edmundson.

Three lively numbers conclude the program, the first being "Serenata" by Leroy Anderson. Following this Latin American rhythms piece, Howard Macy, Stan Thornburg, and Jerry Sandoz will be featured in "Trumpets Wild" by Harold Walters. The last part of the concert will conclude with a lively march, "Thundercrest", composed by Eric Osterling.

A Call to Serve

It hardly needs to be said that responsibility in the form of student government leadership can be one glorified headache. In fact, with the many pressures and demands for time placed upon the GFC student body officers, one almost wonders at the good sense of anyone with high academic standards and an appreciation for a tad bit of leisure time wanting to drudge through the inglorious details of student government.

Unless the individuals are glory-grabbers, the only explanation for students willingly enduring the endless committee meetings, the task of organizing over forty student organizational bodies, and the "no-homework weekends" given to various school functions are three:

First, the students have caught a vision of Christian service through student government. They realize that a dedicated, Christ-centered Student Council can direct and stabilize the whole emphasis and trend of the GF campus. And they feel that they as Christians cannot conscientiously ignore this responsibility.

Second, these students have an authentic desire to serve in the capacity of a certain student office. This must of necessity include a willingness to work hard (not just to slide by) for their full three terms of office. They understand all the implied responsibility of the office they want to run for and are honestly enthusiastic about taking it.

Third, these students have felt the definite leading of the Lord in their own life to submit their petition as a candidate. However, it should be noted that they do not feel called to win, but rather called to enter the campaign.

If you personally meet these three qualifications of vision, desire, and call, you are urged to read the election procedures which appear on this page and prayerfully follow the Lord's direction.

Bob, Carol to Cycle Through Europe

Juniors Carol Hibbs and Bob Schneider plan to leave next term for a two and one-half months tour by motorcycle across the continent of Europe.

Their plans include driving to New York, leaving Greenleaf, Idaho, March 29. If time permits they will visit the World's Fair and Washington, D.C., before flying to Luxembourg, Germany, April 6. They will then travel by train to Frankfurt, where they will buy motorcycles for use during the rest of their tour.

The first main stop Bob and Carol will make is to be in Paris, France. They hope to be in Madrid, Spain during Holy Week, and then will travel south to the Rock of Gibraltar and cross over into Morocco for a day or so. They then plan to journey up the Spanish, French, and Italian Riverias to Rome, Switzerland and Berlin (both East and West) are also major points on their itinerary.

If they keep on their time schedule, they hope to visit Sweden, Denmark and the Netherlands before crossing the English Channel to London. After their return flight to New York, they will drive across the country to arrive back in Greenleaf during the end of June.

Other Side of the Moon

To the Editor:

It is the way of man to set for himself a goal. Men set the standards for themselves, the people around them, the club they belong to, and the college they attend. It has been stated that we are each a vital part of George Fox. George Fox is a Christian college. Why? Because we, the students, desire it so — not the faculty so much, because they want us students to be happy in the Lord and for the most part will not step out and pick at some little thing we do wrong. We students are responsible to ourselves, and of course, if we are such Christians that we desire Christ to be seen in us, we are responsible to Christ.

The goals that we have set for our college change as we ourselves change. If we are continually drawing closer to God, we should expect to see our college, as a whole, pick up and move a little closer to heaven. Can we stand back and say, "Well, look at us... we're better than that college... we are a Christian college... we're 'good kids'... etc."? If the aim of the Christian is to always and ever become more like Christ, the same goes for the Christian college. Dare we step out of His footprints to "look-see" how good we're doing?

Let's look more to God — instead of to our neighbor. Let's pray for growth in ourselves, then pray for others.

—Mary Galloway

To the Editor:

Even though there has been a change of editors since some of the things in the following letter have transpired, I still feel I should express my sentiments about a few things that have occurred lately.

First of all I feel that the Director of Activities should be commended on the terrific job done on both the Christmas and Valentine formals. Having recently completed five years at George Fox I speak with truth when I say that at last these social events are more than just a chance for girls to show off their formal and the fellas to put out a lot of money on a seemingly useless ordeal. From reports I've received, the Christmas formal at the Hilton and the Valentine formal were social events that one could look forward to with excitement and be proud of rather than stoically bearing them as traditional events as I did, all except my frosh year. If any of the rest of the social activities are progressing as these events have progressed this year I feel that the college is finally getting a social program that can be boasted of rather than being somewhat embarrassed about. Jon Newkirk and the others responsible for this progress and elevation of the social program are to be greatly commended, for perhaps it is only some of us "old timers" who realize the effort they must have put forth to bring this about.

Now to the not so commendable portion of my letter. Although the Crescent staff is probably not responsible I feel I should express my displeasure in finding out that an issue of the Crescent was not sent out to subscribers because of its contents. I think those responsible should realize that they cannot keep "secrets locked in dark closets." There are other ways the news gets out and it seems to me that the college suffers more when the alumni, prospective students, and others find out that the college is trying to hide things than if they would let them know these things anyway. At present I have four prospective students who I have been talking to about going to George Fox. They don't expect the college to be perfect and I'm hard pressed for explanations of why they don't get all of the Crescents.

Now then, not having received this particular issue of the Crescent it seems that the issue at hand was concerning the athletic program. Well, I do receive some information from fairly reliable sources, but I imagine these sources are quite opinionated and give a more one-sided view of the issue than would come forth in the Crescent. For this reason I will make one further statement and close my epistle. Since when is it fair to allow the first string quarterback and other players to play all season and then deprive them of their earned letter on the basis of grades they received after football season closed?

Sittin' With Britton

A note of acknowledgement to Coach Haskell and his B-ballers. Although the overall season record was not the greatest, they closed out a good league season with a championship win over Cascade. The strong finish in games has been one of the Quakers' outstanding assets this year.

Cascade must be getting a little wary of the results of the WCCC tourney. Last year after an undefeated league season the Cardinals were relegated to a third place finish by an opening night 74-72 victory by George Fox. The last-second hero of that game was Dale Twenge. This year produced a new hero in the person of big Ron Heide, who split the net with four seconds left and brought GFC the championship.

Track and baseball are both presently underway and if possible schedules will be released in the next issue. Outlook is good for both sports, with several returnees and a good deal of new talent.

Girls' BB Team Still Undefeated After 3 Games

After swamping Pacific university 79-25 (with the help of an opposing player), the GFC girls' basketball team is still on top.

March 2, Tuesday afternoon, the Quaker girls beat Marylhurst with a 42-27 lead. A new idea is being experimented with this year, in the use of the unlimited dribble. In years past, the girls have been limited to two or three dribbles. The first half of this game was played using the limited dribble and the second half using the unlimited.

Thursday night, March 4, GF won again, this time over Linfield by a score of 44-27. The unlimited dribble was used the first half of this game, while the limited was used during the second half.

With a 3-0 record, George Fox faces OCE Thursday, March 11. This game will be held in Hester gymnasium at 7 p.m. A win would make it an undefeated year in basketball, since this is the last game.

THE QUAKER QUINTET score again in the WCCC championship game.

GFC Downs Cascade, Wins League Crown

The George Fox Quakers used Bible Standard as a stepping-stone to the league championship in the first round of the league tourney, triumphing 82-65.

The Quakers led from the beginning and were never overtaken. Jess Wilson led the attack with 22 points.

Gary Blackmar was "tiger on the boards" with 14 grabs. Dale Twenge collected 14 counts and Steve Moller 13. Roy Snyder and Terri Ross both tallied 15 points for the losers.

Last Minute Victory

Cascade came on strong in the first 5 minutes of Saturday night's championship tilt to lead 17-5 over the Quakers. This lead didn't last long as the Foxmen shoved this to 36-33 at half time. The first 10 minutes of the second half was all George Fox as the local quintet out maneuvered the Cardinals 22-10. Cascade's first five, fresh from a five minute rest, started closing the gap and the score see-sawed back and forth in the last 2 minutes.

tion and on the floor. George Fox was league champion by a score of 69-67: Ron Heide hit 7 of 8 shots from the floor in the second half and finished with 17 points for the night.

The Quakers hit an amazing 66.7 per cent the second half and held their ball-handling errors to 6. Cascade's Denny Gibson took game-scoring honors with 21 followed by Bob Puckett with 20. Steve Moller tallied 14 and Dale Twenge 11 for the Quakers.
